

Tautologies

By Greg Nesty
Humboldt State University
(greg@trinidadrancheria.com)

Tautologies are phrases, usually two words, which are repetitive. The second word usually repeats the concept in the first word. Tautologies can usually be fixed by using just one of the two words.

advance warning
attached hereto
at this point in time
basic fundamentals
brief in duration
both together
collect together
consensus of opinion
cooperate together
enclosed herein
few in number
final ending
important essentials
just exactly
merge together
mutual cooperation
necessary requisite
plan in advance
protrude out
resume again
round in shape
seems apparent
still continue
surrounding circumstances
true facts
ultimate end
until such time as you can very unique

You may reuse this list provided you credit the author and ACES.