June 6, 2016

I am writing to you regarding the course offerings for the Fall 2016 semester. This website contains your registration materials and a list of course offerings which you will need for registration. Registration for Fall begins on June 6 at 3:00 PM.

Please remember, that even with an online format, courses do have limited availability. Since students usually take only one course at a time, the days for your synchronous sessions are not limited to one specific day. The instructor will provide you with that information as we move closer to the start of the semester. I still urge you to make early decisions on your selections. Please remember, that if the course is offered in one session, it will not be offered again until at the earliest next year, so please check the tentative rotations to be sure you plan your progression. If you have any questions, I invite you to contact me via email. If you wish to discuss your program or your future course options, I am also available for that. You should look at degreeworks to check on your progress. If you see something that appears incorrect, let me know and I will be happy to check.

I have updated the future course offerings for Fall through Summer, although there may be additions to future schedules. As this sheet indicates, this is a tentative schedule for upcoming semesters, so there may be changes based on students and faculty. If there is something specific you would like to discuss, please contact me.
